LondonDom.com is a company owned by George Shishkovsky. George has been living in London since 1993 having gain qualifications in business and marketing having had a successful career in media and show business hosting a radio show broadcast to Russia from England with an audience of over 40 million listeners. After a change in career direction George set up LondonDom.com in 2003 with the same energy and gusto as in radio capitalizing in acquisition of property for showbiz and media colleagues wishing to purchase property in London. Among our many clients are high profile businessmen, politicians and sportsmen, therefore we know that confidentiality for our clients means!

LondonDom.com acts first of all in the interest of buyers specializing on the individual selection of properties for clients from abroad needing help and support with the British legal requirements and desirable location also working on behalf of busy nationals who neither have the time to search filtering our properties unsuitable for their needs. At LondonDom.com our teams of negotiators knowing the London market work on behalf of the buyer to achieve the best possible market price for the property justifying our commission. For the speed of purchase we have all the necessary associates the seller, lawyers, the broker, the engineer-appraiser etc.

If your personal requirements cannot be met we can tailor the property to meet your needs using our highly qualified design team with project management from the beginning to end.

Advice and calculations to achieve the highest possible premiums on investment properties (buy to let) with follow up management is another of the many services we offer.

Finding the right property in the right location is absolutely key to buyers and dealing with the wrong person can prove very expensive if you buy just a few roads away from the best locations in London. The right road in St John's Wood for instance, doesn't necessarily exist too far from a poor road just a few streets away but the values can be completely different. George's expertise in London and area's such as St John's Wood, Knightsbridge, Belgravia, Mayfair, Chelsea, etc are all area's that he has intimate and extensive knowledge and experience of together with the most affluent parts of Surrey just outside of London which include, the private estates of Cobham, Weybridge, Esher, The Crown Estate at Oxshott, St Georges Hill (probably the most sought after private secure gated estate in the country), and The Wentworth Estate, amongst others, are also areas that George's knowledge and experience of, are just superb. This area is popular with overseas buyers because of the excellent private education, the road and rail links and the proximity to Heathrow and Gatwick airports, yet being about 45 minutes from central London.

George has spent much of his time making sure that the professionals that he deals with across the sector are only of the highest standard ensuring that George's clients receives the best service. Aftercare is also extremely important, obviously buying a property is one thing but knowing where the local tennis club is, understanding where the best restaurants are, being able to understand the best private schools for children's education, as well as being able to organise golf lessons, golf club memberships, hunting days, cleaners for the houses, staff for the houses, and indeed being able to manage the house/property for the client are all requests that George has previously dealt with, and on top of this, actually sorted for his clients. Sourcing and buying the property is, as we all know, just the very beginning of a long journey particularly for people moving from another country. LondonDom.com is a business that has grown by its reputation and recommendation. A fantastic reputation and many recommendations are only achieved by the best service, a willingness to go the extra mile and find solutions to what ever their client's needs are.
